

Zara

You're so perfect and pure
You have me at your beck and call.
You add wonder, with each breath
Innocent and so small.
Oh Zara, oh Zara, the world's your show.

You command an empty room.
You don't even have to make a sound.
Through your eyes, to your soul
A truth that you possess and hold.
Oh Zara, oh Zara, the world's your show.

The world in which we live in
Keeps changing with each turn
As daylight turns to darkness
From each mistake, we learn.
The fundamentals of life are to love and to share
Emotions passed on with simply a stare.

You've brought strength to us all
You didn't even have to say a word.
We'll sing your name, you'll be renowned
Your red hair flowing free beneath your crown.
Oh Zara, oh Zara, the world's your show